

Feedback for RRMP Literature Review [Formative]

Details of any extensions etc:	Submission Attempt: Formative

The document you have submitted (although relatively short in content), is laid out to a professional standard and so do take this approach with your final summative.

There is a clear title used as a header for the document which clearly indicates the intended discussion. I understand as this is a formative exercise with limited word count you have used listing to reflect your intentions, (and this is fine for formative). For the final summative however, do avoid listing and write your content in full paragraphs.

From the references listed and the information that can be garnered from that research in your notes it is clear that you have already identified some points for research which appear to be focused which is good practice. When developing your research and content for the actual summative assignment, do ensure that you continue to map out what the content and research sources will be so that the end assignment can be focused on specific discussion. Taking this approach will ensure that there is depth to research and the focus of the assignment, given that the summative assignment itself does have a relatively limited word count.

With best wishes
